NEW YORK, July 20.—The tragic case of 13-year-old Catherine Crawford of Keyport, N. J., who shot and killed her father in defense of her honor, today evoked widespread comment and no little sympathy among social workers, lawyers and even hardened police officials.

Sentiment seemed to be that the girl had no alternative but to protect herself under the circumstances, and that she should be dealt with leniently by the law. And she probably will be.

Today there were indications that she may never be brought to trial. Certainly not for murder, for the charge of murder already has been changed to "involuntary manslaughter."

She was freed from jail under a nominal bail of $2,500 and was allowed to go to the farm of her grandmother, near Princeton, N. J.

Child Tells Story
Catherine told her story with simple, childlike directness, never varying in details. Her mother had gone to work in a cloak factory at Freehold and she was left alone in bed with her sister and two brothers. Her

MR. WICKERSHAM HAS 'EM PUZZLED DECLARES WILL

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 20.—The governors of all the states gathered together in Connecticut to show how far apart they are, Mr. Wickersham sent a letter to them, any like ever thing that a highly educated man writes, nobody could understand what he meant.

They don't know from it if he is wet, dry, damp, repeat, enforce, endure, modify, or let bad enough alone. They have tried to ask him "what he meant" and he can't tell 'em. The letter has had one astounding outcome, it's made Senator Caraway, a Democrat, and Senator Borah, an isolationist, both see a thing the same way; they agree that Wickersham is all wet.

Yours,
WILL.

Pa News and the whole News family are glad to greet the members of the Pennsylvania Federation of Post-office Clerks and the auxiliary, and welcome them to New Castle for their state convention.

There were few porch parties last night. Although it was mid July, it was so cool that there was no charm in occupying the front porch during the evenings. Most everybody moved indoors.

A temperature only 12 degrees above the freezing mark is very unusual for this time of the year, yet that is the minimum mark recorded at the U. S. weather observation station here this morning. Incidentally yesterday was a cool day, the maximum only reaching 70. The weather during the past week has been more like fall than mid-summer and the corn crop has been considerably retarded as a result.

(International News Service)
LANCASTER, Pa., July 20.—To avoid destruction of the pool: procure ten one hundred-dollar bills and ten fifty-dollar bills. Place them with this note in an envelope. Seal it. Be on the trolley platform between 15 minutes past ten and 15 minutes of eleven Friday morning. Give the envelope to a messenger—this is, to put it plainly, blackmail.

A sordid, commonplace blackmail plot? So police believed until, digging beneath the surface today, they uncovered an amazing story of heart-breaking effort on the part of a 19-year-old college-boy embryo scientist to build a rocket that would take him to the moon—an effort that seemed destined never to be completed—until, in the very nadirs of black despair, he hit upon a blackmail plot to procure the necessary finances for his scientific expedition.

Youth Is Jailed
And, because the plot failed, Thomas Mitchell, a student at Franklin and Marshall College was in jail here today, bitterly contemplating the wreckage of his shattered dreams of fame and scientific achievement.

Mitchell freely confessed, police said to sending the anonymous letter to Mrs. H. B. Griffiths, wealthy owner of Rocky Springs Park, an amusement park near here, in which he threatened to blow up the swimming pool if the $1500 was not forthcoming.

The plot was frustrated when a youth, whose identity police refuse to Burgess admitted, according to statements authorities said were obtained from him and his wife, that he beat Mrs. Fairchild on the head with a hammer as she sat at a table after having had supper with them. "Yes, I killed her," Burgess said calmly to Chief of Police Carney. "It had to be done. She could kill anyone with a look. She could give you any kind of disease with her evil eye. WASHINGTON, July 20.—A new campaign for American recognition of the Soviet Republic will be started in congress as the result of the action of Russia in indicating her intention to abide by the Kellogg-Brand Peace Pact and the state department's appeal to both Russia and China to maintain peace in the Far East, it was predicted today.

Friends of Russia recognition acclaimed the latest developments in the Sino-Russian controversy as a forerunner of recognition while bitter opponents of the Bolshevik government admitted that the recognition move has received a powerful impetus.

Stand Is Praised
Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, and leader in the fight for resumption of diplomatic relations with Russia, enthusiastically praised Russia's reported stand and indicated a belief that the Bolshevik government will gain a new standing throughout the world.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 20.—Rodney Ford, of Cincinnati, had paid with his life today for the murder of a policeman.

After frantic last minute efforts to save him had failed, Ford walked calmly to his death in the electric chair at the Ohio State penitentiary last night, kissing the crucifix as his last act.

Efforts to save him included the calling of the governor of Ohio at New London, Conn., asking for a stay. He mumbled his lips in prayer continuously while in the death chamber.

Ford shot and killed a village marshal, Peter Dumele, during a holdup in North College Hill, a Cincinnati suburb, on Easter morning, 1923.

Breck Lutes and John Messner are serving life terms for the same crime. Statements made by them last night that Dumele was killed by another man, failed to save Ford.

Ford claimed he was coloring Easter eggs when the crime was committed.

Orr Employees Honor Veteran

Remember "Dad" Anderson
With Gifts On Birthday

Employees of the O. C. Orr Baking Company honored H. D. Dad Anderson, veteran janitor of the company, on the occasion of his 70th birthday.

"Dad" as he is more familiarly known by the Orr employees, reached the three-quarter-of-a-century milestone recently. He has been in service for nearly 10 years and it didn't take long for the force to become aware of the fact that it was his birthday.

To him they gave a fine umbrella and a raincoat, accompanied by a poem written by a Orr employee, W. F. Mackenzie. "A Surprise on Hance Anderson" was the title of the poetic testimonial, and it began like this: "The whistles didn't blow nor the bells didn't ring."

When "Dad" Anderson's birthday came in, But good old "Dad" had left us all know.

When the good cigar began to glow, Mr. Anderson passed out cigars around that day and soon the force surprised him. He heard many a wish for many happy birthdays with health and happiness. Mr. Anderson deeply appreciates their thoughtfulness.

MAY NEVER TRY YOUNG GIRL AS FATHER SLAYER

father, George H. Crawford, a constable, called her to his bedroom. "Daddy had come home drunk the night before," she explained.

In side the room, she indicated her fear of him and as he came toward her she backed away. He struck her, she said.

"I saw his gun on the bureau, so I took it and fired," she added in tremulous tones.

She ran from the house screaming. Her mother was notified, rushed home from the factory and comforted her. Catherine is tiny for her age and child-like in demeanor. She threw her arms about her mother and sobbed.

Should Get Clemency
Lawyers commenting on the case today were not in perfect agreement that Catherine was completely justified in killing her father. But they were agreed she should be extended clemency by New Jersey justice. Men, touched by the child's poignant story, upheld the girl's fear-stricken action. Women lawyers thought, however, that she should have told of previous attempts of her father to attack her. "I think she was justified in killing him," said Attorney Anton Wiedemann. "Under the circumstance, she was empowered to use every resource at her command."

Esther Arkowitz, lawyer, said it would be "ridiculous" to hold the girl accountable for her act.

The case should be judged from a human, not a legal standpoint entirely," she asserted.

The grand jury probably will consider Catherine's case next Thursday. It is regarded as unlikely that an indictment will be returned against the girl.

PEACE PROSPECT IN FAR EAST NOW LOOMING STRONGER

along the Siberian-Manchurian frontiers, but that there has been no fighting at any point.

Soviet armies in military planes are patrolling long stretches of the Manchurian border.

Civilians Flee
It is reported by International News Service that many civilians have fled from sections of western and northern Manchuria where troop movements had indicated the possibility of future fighting.

Japan has adopted a policy of "watchful waiting."

Messages from the United States for China and Japan, via London, are subject to heavy delay owing to congestion of Siberian lines and interruption of the Shanghai-Amoy and Shanghai-Shanghai cables. The Western Union Cable company announced, Pacific ocean routes are clear except to Hankow and Harbin, Manchuria.

Britain in Peace Effort.
LONDON, July 20.—Great Britain formally joined the international movement to maintain the peace in the far east, today.

Great Britain has informed the United States and France that the British have entirely associated themselves with the efforts those two powers are making by their friendly advice to effect a relaxation of the Russo-Chinese tension, it was announced at the foreign office.

It is reliably reported from Nanking, seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, that the Chinese minister to Finland will soon leave Nanking for Moscow to discuss the Manchurian situation.

"There is no official confirmation of press reports of clashes between Soviet and Chinese forces on the Siberian-Manchurian border, although it is believed possible there may have been some skirmishes."

The reported seizure of the Manchurian towns of Manchuli and Pogranichny by Soviet Russian troops is officially denied in Moscow, said a dispatch from that city.

Wait Reply to Stimson.
LONDON, July 20.—Reaction of the Soviet and Chinese governments to the intervention of United States Secretary of State Stimson in the Sino-Russian crisis was being anxiously awaited here today, as reports of terminated mobilization by both sides along the Manchurian frontier persisted.

No dispatches have as yet reached here describing the effect of Secretary Stimson's action in Moscow and Nanking, but it is felt in authoritative circles that a reply of some sort from China must be forthcoming shortly.

So far as Soviet Russia is concerned, Secretary Stimson's pointed reminder that both nations involved in the war-like dispute are signatories to the Kellogg pact for the renunciation of war as a national policy, is believed to have been answered yesterday evening before the American government's interventive step was taken.

This answer was embodied in the statement of Jan Rudzutak, Soviet minister of transportation to press representatives in Moscow. In his statement, Rudzutak gave assurances that Russia would not invade Chinese territory, preferring to suffer a loss of $10,000,000 annually involved by Chinese seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway, than to violate the terms of the Kellogg treaty.

A statement to this effect has already been made by Dr. C. C. Wu, Chinese minister to Washington, and it is expected it will be followed by an official declaration from the Chinese government at Nanking that, like Russia, the oriental republic has no intention of instituting hostilities.

Rich and cultured, and were ensconced in magnificent palaces. They were the social status of those women of ancient Athens who were known as "hetairae." They had a certain standing in society. They used to appear in public with men, their relationship with whom was a matter of common knowledge. Some of them had great influence at the Russian Court. One of the finest buildings of old Saint Petersburg which I saw was the palace of the Czar's favorite mistress, a former baller dancer, in the Russian Museum of this city, now Leningrad. I saw a picture of some of these beautiful, brilliant courtesans, standing in haughty pose while holding court before a group of admiring young noblemen who were casting flowers at her feet. When the Revolution broke out, the palaces of these parasites were the first to be attacked. The home of the sumptuous favorite of the Czar became Lenin's headquarters. And with splendid and characteristic thoroughness the Bolsheviks swept the whole sordid lot out of the midst of their evil spoils, and said to them, "You must all go to work!" But it was not so easy to find work for all of the women of this class. But they are quickly being taken where they can be prepared for useful work as fast as possible. And preference is given to women in the state industries in order that temptation may be lessened. But this is always to some "the easier way."

And many there are who creep back into it. It has been found by psychologists that nearly all of those who do are suffering from mental disorder or degeneracy. These are openly arrested, but are secretly taken to institutions where they can be treated for their abnormalities. The officials are compassionate toward them.

Toward men who use prostitutes, however, they are not so lenient. Any man who forces a woman into a life of shame is given a term in the penitentiary. And if he gives a disease to a prostitute he is treated drastically. Men have even been put to death for thus spreading disease.

Giant Passenger Planes Will Be Exhibited Sunday

Giant Twin-Motored Curtiss Condor Planes Will Be Tested Tomorrow

By HOMER H. METZ
International News Service Aviation Editor

NEW YORK, July 20.—The first of a series of giant twin-motored, 16 passenger Curtiss Condor biplanes, equipped with sleeping compartments for night flying and now being considered for service by the Transcontinental Air Transport, will be tested and exhibited at Roosevelt Field near here tomorrow.

In announcing the exhibition, Donald M. Bartlett, assistant manager of the T. A. T., revealed details of the great new plane, which will immediately be subjected to rigorous tests to determine its practicability for the transcontinental service.

In addition to the 16 passengers, the plane is designed to carry two pilots and a steward to wait upon passengers. It is powered by 600 horsepower Curtiss Condor engines, and is capable of 139 miles per hour. Its cruising speed is 129 miles an hour.

One of the features of the plane, according to Bartlett, is that it is capable of maintaining an altitude of 5,700 feet with only one motor in operation.

Fifty Years Of Electric Light Is Celebrated

Edison Relates Experiences In Picking Out Pioneer Electric Station

SERVED 59 PATRONS DURING FIRST MONTH

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, July 20.—The fiftieth anniversary of artificial sunshine is being celebrated throughout the country.

It was in 1880, following the perfection of his incandescent lamp, that Thomas Edison organized in New York City the first central station for distributing electric lighting. It was the first glow from which developed the romantic White Light district of Broadway and later to light up the civilized world.

When Edison struck his first spark it was a city of gaslight, candles, lamp-lights and sputtering arc lights. The hotels (which were not the modern skyscraper hostels) still displayed signs in their rooms "Don't blow out the gas."

Edison tells of his experiences in picking out his pioneer electric station.

"While planning for my first New York station in Pearl Street," he said, "I had no real estate and little knowledge of its cost in New York. I thought that by going down on a steam street car the waterworks I could get some pretty cheap property. So I picked out the worst, dilapidated street there and found I could only get two buildings."

Price Too High
"I thought about $10,000 each would cover it but when I got the price I found that they wanted $75,000 for one and $80,000 for the other. Then I was compelled to change my plans and go up in the air where real estate was cheap. So I cleared out my building entirely to the walls and built my station of structural ironwork, running it up high."

The new station was to serve the financial and commercial district—about a mile square—between Wall, Nassau, Spence and Ferry Streets. First Slip and the East River. Edison ordered a thorough canvass of potential customers and before his station was opened he knew the exact number of gas jets in every building, how many hours they burned and the cost. He knew every consumer of power and just how much was used.

The inventor constructed an underground system. He worked day and night with the energy for which he is famous. Sleep was almost entirely neglected. Occasionally he sat on the iron conductor pipes stored there. Although Edison suffered no ill effects, two workmen died of diphtheria contracted in the cold, damp place.

The official opening occurred on September 4, 1882. Steam was admitted to the engine of one Jumbo generator, named after Barnum's popular elephant. The current was generated, turned into the thirteen miles of underground conductors and the electric light system was begun which was to revolutionize the world.

39 Customers.
At the end of the first month, the Pearl Street station had 39 customers. By the first of the month, the number had reached 445. Light was supplied free for three months while the meter system was thoroughly tested.

The firm of J. P. Morgan, bankers, was among the first customers. Morgan doubted the accuracy of the meter. Edison suggested cards be hung on each fixture and a record kept of the number of lights and the time they were turned on and off. Morgan did that and still kicked at the bills. Edison made a personal investigation. He found that the lights used by the janitor had escaped notation. The next month's bills tallied the record kept with the meter charge. Morgan was satisfied and Edison was vindicated.

Woman Is Found Slain In Home In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—Another murder mystery confronted police Friday with the discovery of the battered body of Mrs. Minnie Badradi, 46-year old crippled divorcee, in her home here.

The woman had been beaten over the head then strangled to death, police said.
Harry Cummings, 54, a frequent visitor at the divorcee's home has been detained for questioning. He was held, police said, because his shirt sleeve was torn as if he had been in a struggle and he had scratches on his arms and blood stains on his clothing.

Royal Midget Circus Features Program

Rubin And Cherry Shows To Exhibit All Next Week In This City

The Royal Midget Circus has for several seasons retained its wonderful popularity with patrons of the Rubin and Cherry Shows midway and retains its old time prestige as of yore because of the fact that each season, the management present an entirely new and diversified program enhanced by the addition of several new members of the cast as well as providing gorgeous new costumes and handsome stage settings.

During the coming engagement of the Rubin and Cherry Shows at the Circus Grounds at Mahoning avenue starting Monday night, discriminating patrons who appreciate midway attractions of the better sort will again have an opportunity of seeing and hearing in the magnificent gold and white miniature Theatre, a program of artistic merit, presented by ten of the world's smallest and most perfectly formed lilliputians, the smallest of whom is Baron Emil, 19 inches in stature and conceded to be the smallest human in all the universe, and "Princess Bernice," miniature prima donna and danseuse, a tiny doll lady of infinite charm, 22 inches in stature and as dainty as a Dresden doll. Lady Gertrude, a blonde miss of 26 inches and her terpsichorean partner, Count William present the latest steps in dancing and an interesting and thrilling four round boxing bout is staged by Emil and Otto Ritter, the two smallest boxers in the world.

Miniature acrobats, a tiny magician from Java, singers, dancers and musicians are all to be seen and heard in the Midget Circus. During the past winter this talented troupe played extended engagements in the continental music halls of Europe notably at London, England, Paris, Berlin, Vienna and Antwerp where they were acclaimed as headliners.

President Hoover Using Own Money In Camp Building

Hoover Displeased By Reports That He Is Having Camp Built By Government

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 20.—Displeased by a statement in an out-of-town newspaper to the effect President Hoover is having United States Marines build his mountain camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia, George Akerson, presidential secretary, announced today Mr. Hoover is paying out of his own pocket "for every nail and stick of wood" used in the construction work.
The camp has cost the government nothing, Akerson declared, and the marines, used as the customary presidential guard, have only built shack at the camp which is a part of their training program.

Mr. Hoover paid from his personal funds for the construction of the trial to the camp while the Virginia highway commission is building a state road connection with the camp trail, he said.

Capital Women Playing Market For Spare Cash

Forsake Bridge Table And Score Pad For Stock Market And Financial Sheets

ONE FIRM BUILDS BOARD FOR WOMEN

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Wives of the wealthy and prominent in the nation's capital have joined the search for the Golden Fleece.

They are forsaking the tea table and the bridge score pad for the stock market and the financial sheets of the metropolitan dailies.

And they take their medicine quietly when they lose. They don't squeal as much as men, taking them all in all, one official of a large brokerage house here declared.

"What's doing in steel?" and "how are the motors?" now are the questions instead of "Should I have finished that quota?" and "didn't you just adore Lillian's new dress?" among Washington women.

Long reputed for their idleness and gossip, these women have taken up seriously this business of making money in the stock market. One of the largest brokerage houses in the capital has found its trade among women so profitable that it has installed a women's board room, where the female customers, wearing smart Parisian gowns and fresh from the beauty parlor, may sit through the day in comfort and watch the movements of the New York Board.

Trade Seriously.
During the last two weeks, the brokerage house which built a board room for women handled more business for its feminine customers than for men, one official declared.

"These women trade seriously, and they aren't afraid to take a chance, and they aren't the clinging vine type that comes whining back after they lose. They win or lose without a whimper. Equally, I've seen them sit here and make a hundred thousand and not show it by the flicker of an eyelash. They're game, these present day slim wives and business women."

Most of the customers of the new women's board room, the official said, are wealthy, but the few who "play the market" on a slim reserve are just as game as their richer sisters. "We don't encourage women who haven't the means to fool with the stock market," an official declared, "but some who have a small capital seem to make money out of it, and take their losses as well as those who can afford to lose large sums."

Quick Recovery.
"We have one customer here, a regular, who sold her automobile about three months ago to put up more margin on stock when we were forced to call her. She got the money, and now has recovered most of the three thousand dollars she lost that day in a depression spell."

The new board room for women is similar to that for men, except that it is furnished a little more pretentiously and has women attendants. Heavily upholstered chairs are grouped around comfortably, and the women can smoke all they want. Most of them take advantage of the smoking privileges, and from opening time until the market closes a glimpse of the women's board room will disclose a charming group of women sitting around watching the board, smoking and talking.

Most of the talk is of the stock market, but there is always time during a lull in the market for discussion of current matters in Washington's social circles. The recent social furore concerning the status of Mrs. Dolly Gann, vice president Currier's sister, as his hostess, was well aired in the salons of Washington brokerage houses, it was said.

Grove City Without Cop During Argument

Burgess And Council At Loggerheads Over Power Of Appointing Police

GROVE CITY, July 20.—As a result of a heated controversy between Burgess M. L. Clark and the members of the borough council, the people of Grove City are without a day policeman. The council at the last regular meeting dismissed the day man for one month and the Burgess, claiming that they had not the power to do this, placed him back to work, which opened up the controversy.

Burgess Clark takes his authority from the borough ordinance passed many years ago, while the members of council are taking their authority from a recently enacted state law which they claim makes the ordinance on which Burgess Clark is making his stand void.

As a result of the argument Special Officer James Reed has refused to report for duty until the controversy is settled.

With the officer refusing to work, the borough is without a day policeman and it is probable that there will be none until the matter is settled at the next regular meeting of council, which will be held the first Friday in August.

PYTHIANS INSTALL
At a meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge, in the hall last evening, H. C. Woodruff, district deputy, of Jamestown, was present to install the newly elected officers. WRITES ABOUT CALF
July 19, 1929.
Mr. George Conway, Editor,
New Castle News.

Dear Sir:
Thank you for the nice notice on page five in last evening's News. Several hundred people came to see the calf and its mother cow. People are coming all day long, from early this morning. I am offered one thousand dollars for the calf, but it is not for sale at any price at this time. I would not separate the cow and her calf.

I forgot to mention the fact that the calf 'Jude' has a lady's head in black on a white background on the other side of the body. All persons pronounce the calf a marvel, a wonder, great curiosity, and many other pet names.

Several automobile parties came to see the calf. It seems I am compelled to give public notice that the calf will only be on exhibit on Sunday afternoons after this because it is too young, for the children are determined to handle and pet it, and the constant crowd of strangers causes it, as well as the mother cow, to be restless, and above all we are industrially compelled to work to take care of the mission and the callers in need as well as the garden and home work. We invite everybody however, on Sunday, all afternoon to see the calf free without money, a national curiosity.

Respectfully,
L. Schmidt, supt.

China Has General Sympathy In Present Row With Russia, Washington Writer Indicates

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Central Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—Ever since Russia went Bolshevik any trouble she has serves her right in most of the rest of the world's opinion. Consequently Washington diplomacy concurs with sympathy nearly everywhere in sympathizing with the Chinese government's policy of kicking the soviet's representatives out of northern Manchuria.

If the Chinese were to try kicking Japan's representatives out of southern Manchuria it would be a much more questionable proceeding. Even as between China and Russia the situation is recognized as amounting to a serious threat against Asiatic peace.

The Russians may submit quietly to being kicked and they may not. Japan certainly never would submit to it for a minute.

In these times of widespread interests, once a row of this sort starts nobody can guess where or when it will stop.

In short sympathize though they may with the Chinese republic versus the Russian soviet international experts here and elsewhere are somewhat uneasy. Theoretically they enjoyed seeing the Muscovite menace bootied but if the menace is going to set up again it they would almost rather it hadn't happened.

Manchuria is a fine farming region—nearly half Mexico's size—with more than twice Mexico's population.

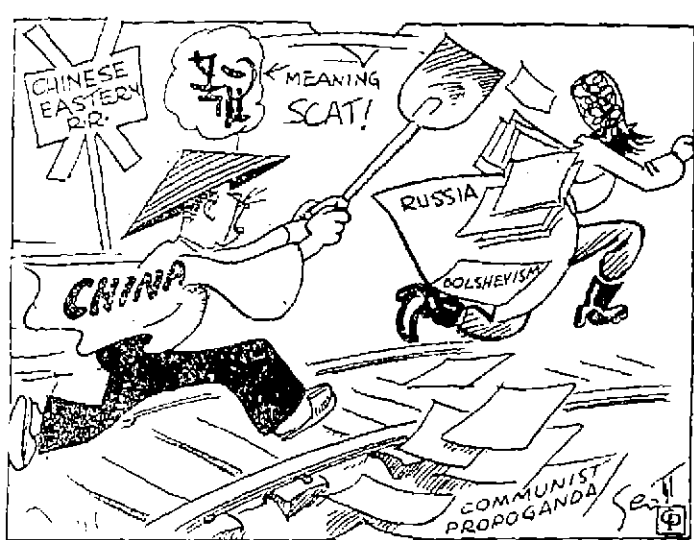

It is about the latitude of the northern United States—very valuable.

Map makers always include it as part of China, but really it is a long time since the Chinese has had much to do with running it.

Russia has tossed the northern half; Japan the southern.

Built by Russians years ago in the czarist period, right across the Muscovite sphere of influence is the Chinese Eastern railroad—a 1,000-mile link connecting the Trans-Siberian system with the Russian city of Vladivostok on the Pacific.

Besides paying good money on a big investment it is mighty important to Russia—economically, politically and as a military proposition.

A Japanese line called the Chinese Southern feeds the makado's area.

These roads were built—and subsequently operated—under the terms of extra-territorial treaties with the Peking government.

In other words Russia took her own laws into China with her for the benefit of her own citizens and her own properties there. The Japanese did likewise.

It was if the German-owned rayon mills at Elizabethton (Tenn.) were subject only to Berlin regulations.

Naturally no self-respecting government would accept such an arrangement but the ancient Peking government was not self-respecting.

Extra-territoriality prevailed in China for generations—not only Russian and Japanese extra-territoriality but extra-territoriality in favor of all the world powers. America included.

However when the Chinese republic of today began coming into being it started to squawk about this foreign rule on China's own soil and gradually it is making some impression.

Germany lost her special rights as a result of the war.

The other nations surely will have to give up theirs ultimately but are slower in doing so—with the exception of Russia.

No sooner were the communists in control than they waived all their extra-territorial claims in the event as a gesture of friendship, they said, toward their neighbors—but it may not have been unadulterated altruism; perhaps they hoped to win the Chinese to communism.

Anyway the soviet leaders can hardly have expected the Chinese to take their gesture quite so literally as to gobble Russia's Manchurian railroad.

Yet that was exactly what followed.

The nonplussed soviet leaders suggested that they would like at least a voice in the line's management.

The Chinese republicans were not so strong then as they are now. Possibly they deemed it wise to string the Bolsheviks along for a while instead of antagonizing them immediately. At all events they gave them what was supposed to be a 50-50 break on the road's managing board.

The division of authority never has worked well. The railroad's Russian and Chinese directors have quarreled constantly; their interests clash.

The Chinese accuse the Russians of trying to communize China.

The Russians accuse the Chinese of planning to grab their railroad.

Both are right doubtless.

It has been evident all along that the rival governments have been striving to beat one another to something decisive.

The Chinese simply got there first. Hence their action in pitching the soviet's representatives—railroad, diplomatic and miscellaneous—neck and crop out of China.

Now will there be a fight?

The Chinese must be prepared for one or they would not have gone as far as they have.

The soviet talked a lot about their military strength but seem slow to prove it. Still their stake is enormous—not only their railroad but their only speedy means of communication between European Russia and the Pacific as well as huge commercial and political interests in northern Manchuria.

An indignity to its official representatives counts with some countries also.

OR, they have an excuse for fighting if they feel like it.

Bo-Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.
NEW YORK, July 20.—We've had the "Polks" the "Vanities," the "Scandals," with their mediocre variety acts, and now along comes an "intimate" revue to Broadway lugged hither by Dolph Singer, Leo Donnelly and Harry Von Tilzer, bearing the complimentary title: "Insults of 1929."

Candid as a stenographer's lipstick.

REGARDING A PINCH HITTER

Jake Falstaff, heavyweight columnist of Akron, Ohio, is pinch-hitting in the New York World for F. F. A., the Whom-Hunter of Park Row.

Jake was slugging his Elsie Smith the other day when a dazling, three-cornered line flashed through his brain. He hooked it on the fly and ran it in the following day's column.

It had something to do with his going to Coney Island to get a squirt at the "short and simple flannels of the poor."

OH, WELL, IT'S AMUSING

If Chris will go back 30 years and thumb over the pages of "Mr. Dooley" he will find Finley Peter Dunn making reference to "the short and simple flannels of the poor."

The "flannels" version of Falstaff-Morley-Herford is a mere variant.

Be that as it may, The funniest thing in New York, aside from the statue of "Justice" on the court house, is the spectacle the little group of six-octave col-yumnists afford, snarling at each other in public over authorship of an "original" line that dates back to a time when the backs of the worthy Brothers' ears weren't yet dry.

FOR WOULD-BE WRITERS

"Originality," says the Fat Philosopher, "consists in writing something as if no one had ever written it before."

UM-HUMPH

Once upon a time I used to get all het up when some little link slinger used to come along and place his o'sullivan on any bluejay. Wisdom comes with age and I've quit worrying about the pinpoings of the Paragrafters. When they swipe my stuff I do what "Bugs" Baer does. I steal it back from the birds who stole it from me.

A col-yumnist isn't really worth his salt until the knowledge permeates his seething mass of mind that The-Man-in-the-Ford doesn't give a cold smooth claim Who Said What, and When, and Why.

MOREOVER

The newest story is the one that's longest forgotten.

A good line belongs to the man who uses it last.

And as I remarked many years ago: "It's a wise crack that knows its own author."

Plan Stunt Night
At Field Club
Arrangements Being Made
For Program On
July 25
Something just a little bit ahead of anything you ever saw or heard is the advance word on the third stunt night which will be held at the New Castle Field Club on Thursday evening, July 25. The folks who will comprise the entertainment are going to give the drama a good old college try, and from the set-up that has been given to the chief of police (just in case of accidents), the evening should be good for a couple of snorts, strictly non-alcoholic.
Three pieces of drama will be given, each piece by itself, with neither of the three having anything in common with any other. The first one is "Hamlet in Modern Dress." The last time you saw Barrymore in Hamlet he was dressed in nothing much except a lot of gloom. Then someone or other put it on in full dress clothes down in New York. Now the field club players are going to put it on in plus fours, and instead of old man Polonius getting his gizzard out, he gets his handicap out.
And Some Others
The second thing at Joe Jefferson's art is entitled "So's Your Old Antique." It is said to have nothing to do with period furniture or Wallace Nutting pictures. The last sketch, or whatever it is entitled "Fortinbras in Plain Clothes" and our knowledge of the early Scandinavian being somewhat sketchy, this cannot be given any interpretation. What or who Fortinbras is or was, or did, is something to take up at the next session of Congress.
The committee in charge of the histrionics is composed of Attorney and Mrs. Robert White and will take the responsibility and pay all damages. Assisting them in the evening will be the following committee men and women: Mr. and Mrs. Morrow D. Wells, Attorney and Mrs. Clarence

Here are the facts that prove it America's finest medium-priced automobile

Many claims are made for various automobiles. Many words are employed in attempting to establish the superiority of one car or another over everything else in its field. But there is one car in the medium-priced field which thorough analysis stamps as the greatest value in its price class. That car is the Oakland All-American Six. At the right are facts which speak for themselves. They are drawn from a comparison of Oakland with 20 leading cars in its field. Study these facts—then come to our showroom for additional information. These are facts which prove the Oakland All-American to be America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Comparing the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles

What these features mean to you

How Oakland compares with the field

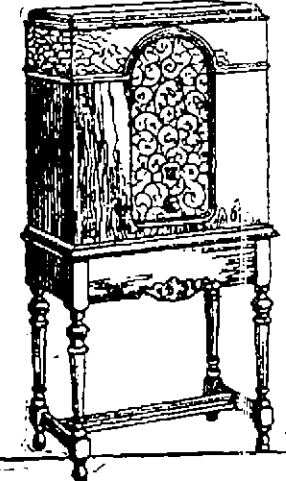

WHEELBASE	Reasonably long wheelbase gives greater riding ease and road balance. Also permits use of longer, smarter, roomier bodies. At the same time, a small turning circle is essential to handling ease.	Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.
PISTON DISPLACEMENT	Large piston displacement is needed to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Moderate engine speed is an important factor in the life of a car.	Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the remaining cars, 7 are much higher priced than Oakland.
FISHER BODY	No name in automobile coach building means so much as Fisher. Fisher bodies are famous for style, luxury and roominess. In addition, they hold such advantages as sturdy composite hardwood and steel construction; VV windshield, side cowl ventilation and adjustable drivers' seats.	Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.
CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR WITH THERMOSTATIC CONTROL	A revolutionary achievement in cooling systems. Eliminates loss of water or alcohol through boiling. Thermostat checks flow of water until correct operating temperature is reached. No radiator shutters or heat indicators to bother with.	Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-Flow Radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator, this despite the fact that 11 of the 20 are higher-priced than Oakland.
BRAKES	For safety, efficiency, convenience, smoothness and silence, nothing has been found to compare with internal-expanding mechanical 4-wheel service brakes with non-squeak bands. An entirely separate emergency braking system is needed as an extra safety factor.	Only Oakland and one other car, costing $200 more, use the fine type of brakes described opposite. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

Proof of Oakland Superiority

Of 373 individual comparisons of mechanical features, we believe the Oakland All-American Six to be distinctly superior to the 20 other cars on 451 items, or 51.3% . . . competitive cars are at best equal to Oakland on 382 items, or 43.50% . . . competitive cars are superior only on 45 scattered items, or 5.13% . . . And 13 of the 20 competitive cars are higher-priced.

Tent Meetings At Harbor Are Arousing Interest In Community

A large congregation which completely filled the tent was present Friday evening at the camp meeting which is being conducted at the intersection of the Youngstown and Harbor roads.

The program began with several hymns sung by the congregation and led by Rev. W. H. Armstrong. The opening prayer was then given by a member of the congregation.

A duet number and a selection sung by six children, accompanied on the piano by Bertha Barber, were special features of the evening.

Rev. Wade Patrick brought the message of the evening, speaking from the theme "Wells of Salvation" in which he emphasized the great need of reaching God in the old fashioned way.

Rev. Armstrong announced that there will be no camp meeting at the Harbor tonight. Rev. Patrick will deliver a sermon Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Wesleyan Methodist church on Lyndal street. He will also speak at the Harbor revival Sunday evening at 7:30 daylight savings time.

Plan To Preserve Old Washington Flour Mill

Citizens Of Monongahela Valley Band Together To Save Ancient Structure

Is Revealed That George Washington Supervised Mill Erection In 1770

(International News Service) CHARLESTON, Pa., July 20.—A national shrine is to be established by citizens of four towns around George Washington's old flour mill, hidden away in Stewart's Meadow, near Perryopolis, Fayette county. Plans for saving the ancient structure built by the country's first president were reviewed here today.

Efforts had been made to interest the state of Pennsylvania and various historical associations in the work of saving the great stone and oak building which was erected under personal supervision of Washington who picked the site and selected materials about October 15, 1770.

Residents Active. These efforts proved of no avail, however, so residents of Charleston, Monongahela, Perryopolis and Uniontown have decided the mill must be saved at any cost. It is estimated that 10,000 would be required to restore the staunch old building and draw thousands of visitors. Various repairs are needed. In 1925 an elm tree said to have been planted to mark the site fell and crushed the water wheel. The roof and wheel compartment were torn.

Howard Adams, vice president of the First National bank of Perryopolis, has undertaken the task of rebuilding the mill.

Old journals of the first president revealed that in 1767 he wrote Colonel William Crawford, who lived at what was West Connelville, asking him to be "on the lookout to procure me a tract of land, some 2,000 or more acres, somewhere in your vicinity." On April 3, 1769, Washington purchased 1,600 acres, including the ground on which Perryopolis now stands.

Utter decay looms for the historic mill, supporters of the restoration plan pointed out, and steps for its protection must be taken soon.

The "Missouri Robin" as sister ship was to celebrate the beginning of its fourth full day in the air at 10:31 this morning.

First Sentence Against Sinclair Ends Sunday; Starts Serving Six-Months Term

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 20.—Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate and now pharmacist of the district jail completes his first sentence of three months for contempt of the senate's oil investigating committee tomorrow.

This brings little happiness to the millionaire for he still has to serve the second sentence of six months imposed upon him for contempt of court in connection with the jury-shadowing episode in his Asapet Dome Oil conspiracy trial here with Albert B. Fall.

The sentences run concurrently and if Sinclair continues to be a "good prisoner," obeys the regulations and makes no attempt to escape, the big iron doors will swing open for him on November 22.

He entered the jail May 6 on three months charge and while there the supreme court upheld his second sentence of six months. He also observed his 53rd birthday anniversary behind the bars July 6.

Another official of the Sinclair Oil companies is also sojourning at the big brick jailhouse. He is Mason Day head of the Sinclair Exploration company sentenced to serve four months for employing the Burns Detective Agency to shadow the jurors in his chief's trial. They meet at meal times and Day holds no regrets against his boss.

Water Carnival Is Scout Camp Event

Second Period At Boy Scout Camp Ends Today; Have Many Contests

The last camping day for the Scouts of the second camp period was crammed full of action, most of which was practical use of scouting that has been learned in camp. A Scout field meet was held Friday afternoon from two to four o'clock, and a water carnival with swimming and boating races, followed. LeRoy M. Norton, camp director, was in charge of the various events, in which every Boy Scout participated.

The winners of the meet follow: Scouting events: practical long distance signaling, won by Marshall, Ziegler, Timblin and Workley; Scouts pace, won by Bob Bayers; potato baking, Dan Ryan and Bill McBurney; fire-building and string burning, won by Dan Ryan.

Bill Woodworth is hut leader of Billy Phillips, Fred Pifer, Harold Morrison, George Phillips, Bob Franchett and Clare Boots.

Harold Aggas was high point scorer with 180 points, with Jerry Workley second. Dan Ryan, a member of Rotary troop No. 1 of New Castle, carried off honors in the meet, with 100 points.

The greatest number of high ranking scouts to be awarded a color ceremony this year were given to the following boys by Director Norton. This is the camp's most prized emblem: the award for achievement was earned by two boys this period and presented at colors. The boys are Alva Kleindienst and John Hancher. Only four of these emblems have been earned this summer and the winner is accorded the respect of all the other campers.

The camp staff was defeated by the campers baseball team by a score of 7 to 1. The success of the Indian Village this period has been greater than ever and much credit is due Chief White Bear, Perry L. Uber and his Indians, Bob Bayers, Bill Bayers, Alva Kleindienst, Lee Shirley, Charles Ziegler, Jerry Workley, Jack Marshall and Harold Aggas.

Charges Against Calhoun Dropped

Former Pittsburgh Superintendent Of Police Is Freed Of Fraud Charges

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 19.—Charges of fraud against John C. Calhoun, former superintendent of police in Pittsburgh, in connection with a Florida land deal had been dismissed today by Justice of the Peace George E. Shields, of Wilkensburg.

John Beltz charged that a paper switching trick had been played on him in the offices of Calhoun's attorneys, and that he had got nothing for $17,500 he paid Calhoun. Defense attorneys produced a sale contract purporting to show that Beltz had received fifty acres of land in Florida for his money. Canceled checks were introduced as evidence by Calhoun in support of his claim that he bought the land mentioned in the sale contract, for Beltz.

Harry R. Lean, former city commissioner of Daytona Beach, Fla., testified he had been present in the offices of Calhoun's attorneys when Beltz signed the sale contract. City councilman R. J. Alderdice also was a defense witness.

Vets To Approve Hoover Plan Of Veteran Relief

Consolidation Of Veteran Relief Agencies At National Capital Proposed

WOULD STANDARDIZE ALL RELIEF WORK

KANSAS CITY, Kansas, July 20.—President Hoover's consideration of a plan to consolidate veteran relief agencies at Washington will be given much impetus by favorable discussions scheduled for the 30th national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. to be held at Saint Paul, August 25-31.

"When President Hoover appointed a committee to investigate the feasibility of this idea he was acting in complete accord with resolutions adopted by our 1928 national encampment," Eugene P. Carver, Jr., Boston, Mass., national commander, points out.

"We are solidly behind this proposed arrangement and I am sure that further debate on this problem at Saint Paul will bring out a campaign of spirited support for consolidation as soon as possible. The plan is in perfect harmony with President Hoover's theory of efficiency. We feel sure the investigating committee will reach the same viewpoint first acquired by the V. F. W. some years ago, when the mountain of needless duplication of effort and red tape took shape as an increasing evil."

Under the recommendations offered by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. activities of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, the government pension office, various federal soldiers' homes and similar independent groups would be combined.

Veterans of all wars would be entitled to the same standards of food, medical supplies and care as are the younger veterans, while the latter would in turn be entitled to domiciliary and convalescent care, now available for the veterans of previous wars.

"No lost motion should occur in handling a veteran's case by counter correspondence between bureaus where a veteran of the Spanish-American war or of the Civil war seeks hospitalization under the World War veterans' act," declares Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., Washington, D. C., national service officer of the V. F. W.

"Delay in granting him this necessary hospitalization should not occur by having to refer the matter to the pension bureau for a report," Bettelheim adds. "Everything should be under one head."

He served as pastor of the Mahoning Presbyterian church for many years, but was pastor at Coropolis when the war broke out, and he entered the service.

Stimson Returns To Washington

Secretary Of State Leaves President's Camp To Hurry Back To His Desk

(International News Service) LURAY, Va., July 20.—Secretary of State Stimson hurriedly left President Hoover's mountain camp on the Rapidan river here this morning for Washington because of the crisis between China and Russia over seizure by the Chinese government of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Stimson was in conference with President Hoover for quite awhile last night and he decided that it would be best for him to be at his desk to take care of any matter that may develop from his proposal yesterday to Great Britain, France and Japan to cooperate with the American government in an attempt to have the two disgruntled nations peacefully settle their controversy.

The secretary of state is extremely anxious to prevent any hostilities in the far east from nullifying the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty before it becomes effective July 24. On that day Japan's ratification will have reached the state department. Both China and Russia are signatories to the pact.

No Coalition In Tariff Row

Senator Simmons, North Carolina, Against Democratic-Progressive Coalition

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 20.—Proposals for a Democratic-Progressive-Republican coalition in the Senate tariff fight were dealt a blow today by the declaration of Senator Simmons (D) of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance committee, that "the only coalition can come about thru a meeting of minds."

There will be no agreement with the Progressives to attack the administration's bill, he emphasized, although indicating opposition to many schedules which have been assailed by independent Republicans.

The Progressive Republicans, it is known, have been counting heavily upon Democratic support to break down the tariff bill which will be reported by the Senate Finance committee when the Senate meets August 19.

The Democratic fight, as outlined by Simmons, will be based on the claim that the Hawley tariff bill maintains the advantage of the manufacturer over the farmer, and has not given agriculture the parity with industry which was promised in the Republican platform.

Although the Republican members of the Senate Finance committee will begin writing the bill on Monday with Democrats barred, the minority members themselves will divide into sub-committees to make a close study of the proposed tariff changes.

Former Athlete Is Held On Charge As Machine Kills Man

(International News Service) ALTOONA, Pa., July 20.—Emery Bennett, of Juniata, well known intercollegiate athlete and referee, was arrested today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, following the death of Michael Martino, 60, a foreman for the Altoona and Logan Valley Electric Railway company.

Martino was struck by the Bennett car while repairing a trolley switch in the business district here last night. He died early today of a fractured skull.

League Optimistic Over Intervention

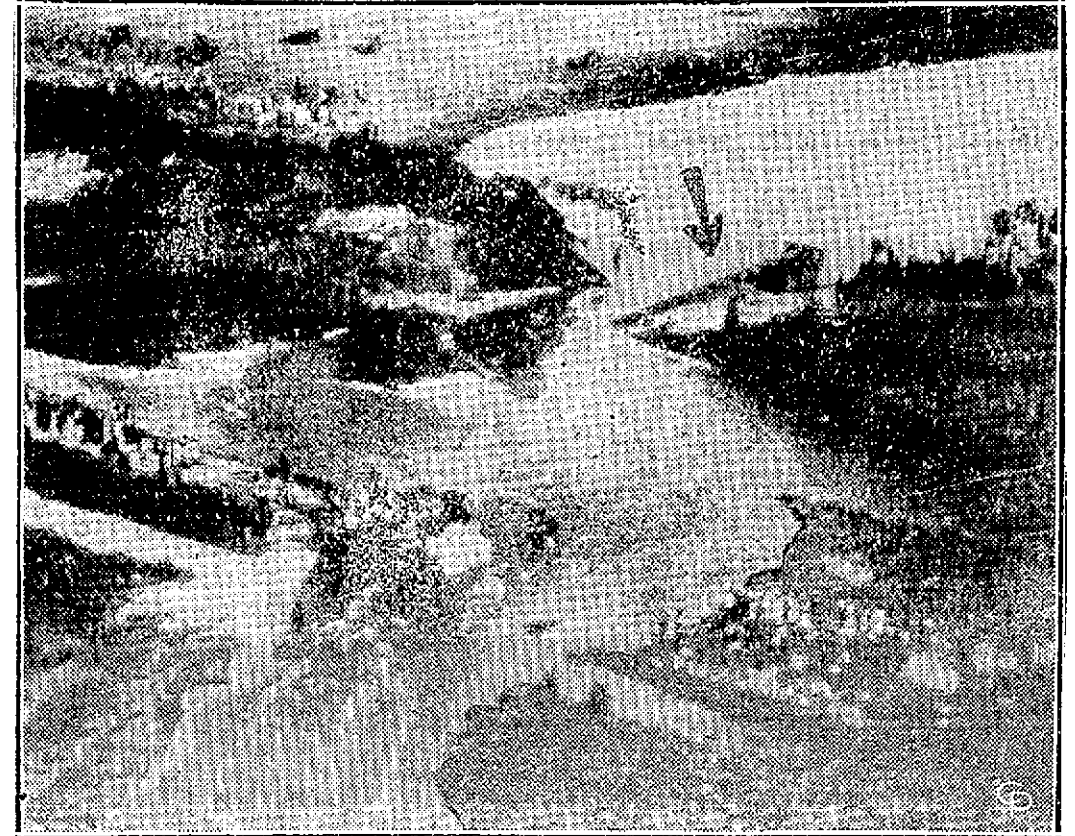

(International News Service) GENEVA, July 20.—America's intervention in the Russo-Chinese situation in behalf of peace and strict adherence to the Kellogg anti-war treaty aroused optimism in League of Nations circles today.

League officials declared that the outlook is much brighter as the result of Secretary of State Stimson's notes to Soviet Russia and China reminding them of their obligations under the Kellogg Pact.

There was considerable gratification that the United States had taken the initiative in seeing the Kellogg Pact upheld.

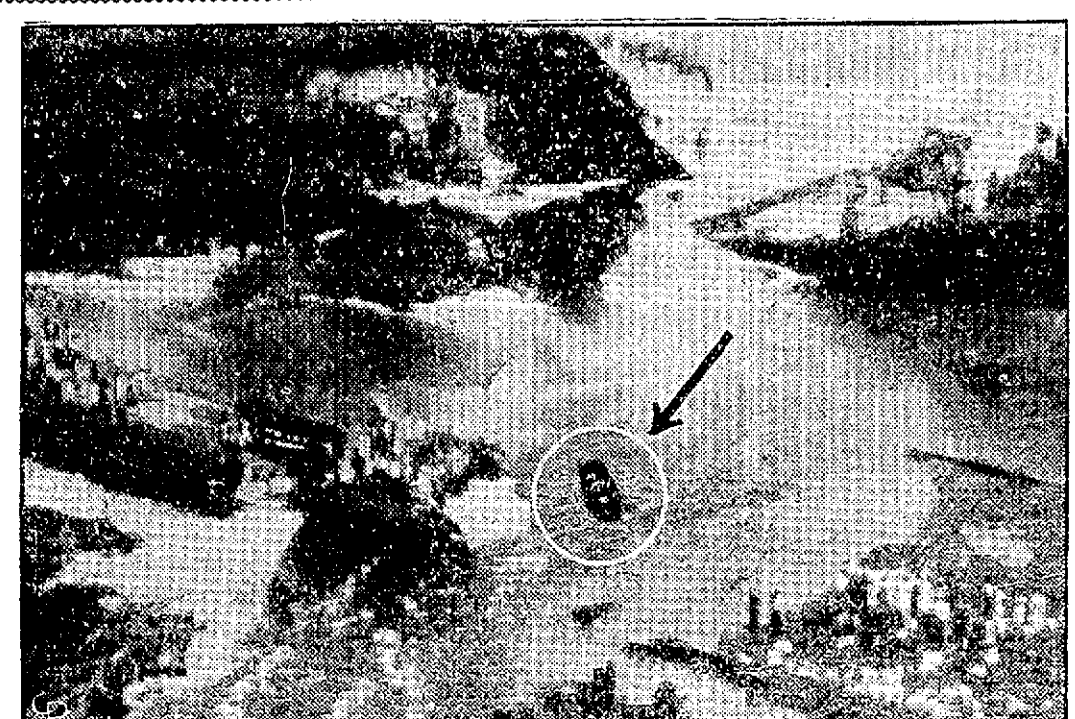

"With a Japanese as president of the League of Nations council, the position of the league was most embarrassing," said one official to International News Service. "Secretary of State Stimson's action creates a precedent. The league was already speculating what course of action it should pursue in the event the Kellogg anti-war pact was violated."

WHERE CRACK WESTERN EXPRESS MET DISASTER

ABE MARTIN On A Good Name

Now that there's thousands of 'em, a feller is a nonentity, his father's good name, or his mother's. 'I often give him his freedom till his case is called. Most everything else comes pretty easy after we establish a good name. Of course a feller can't lay around an' be a nonproducer an' cash in on a good name as many are inclined to do. For one should not take the attitude that the world owes him a living 'jest because he keeps out of jail. It won't get you nothin' to flaunt a good name. A good name should be let alone, an' if you're half way industrious it'll do the rest. A good name comes in time if you hit a telephone pole, an' it's invaluable as a business trade-mark. Ever'where there's people who have inherited good family names, an' some hold on to them an' treasure them, while others squander them like money. In ever' town or city there's prosperous business concerns carryin' on under reliable firm names, names established almost a century ago, names of sturdy men of character who built up enviable reputations of priceless value to leave to those behind. These old firm names are invaluable assets, an' those who are usin' 'em realize that they must follow in the footsteps of their predecessors if their business is to grow an' prosper. I recently saw a sign on a fine, new fifteen-story building that read, "Isaac W. Thompson's Son's Son Company." There was three Thompsons all in a row. All had good names an' passed to the beyond, an' now the business is owned by a third company that's breakin' its neck to perpetuate the good names. If a good name is a priceless asset in business, it should be pretty useful in the common transactions of life. We kin tell that a good name is better'n riches by those who prefer the riches.

Young Communists Stage Demonstration As Boy Scouts Sail

(International News Service) NEW YORK, July 20.—Departure of 237 Boy Scouts for England today on the Cunarder Samaria was marked by incipient rioting at the pier by 75 young communists. Traffic police were kept busy for half an hour. The boys, sailing for the scout jamboree in Birkenhead, England, and attended by their parents at the pier, aroused the ire of members of the communist organization, the Young Pioneers. These paraded to the pier bearing banners inscribed: "Down with bosses." "Boy Scouts, you are cannon fodder" and similar legends.

Yells of derision by the young reds roused the police to action. Violence was imminent as police seized placards, threw them into the water and grappled with the communists leaders.

Detectives Stage Daring Raids In Metropolis Today

Night Club Districts Hard Hit By Thirty Detectives In Raids

(International News Service) NEW YORK, July 20.—The lid was clamped down on Broadway's Great White Way today.

Thirty detectives in squads of four and five under the direction of Inspector Patrick McCormack new police "craz" of the district began a series of raids early this morning that culminated in big rum hauls and wholesale arrests.

This action on the part of the police was an aftermath of the spectacular killing a week ago of two men in a gun battle in the Hotsy-Totsy club, a Broadway night club.

Grover Whalen, police commissioner, announced that gangdom is in control of the night clubs and said that if "decent people" want to avoid "police attention" they will keep away from such places. The commissioner also revealed that John (Lew) Diamond, gunman and racketeer, and Charles Entrata, an ex-convict have been indicted for the double murder in the Hotsy-Totsy.

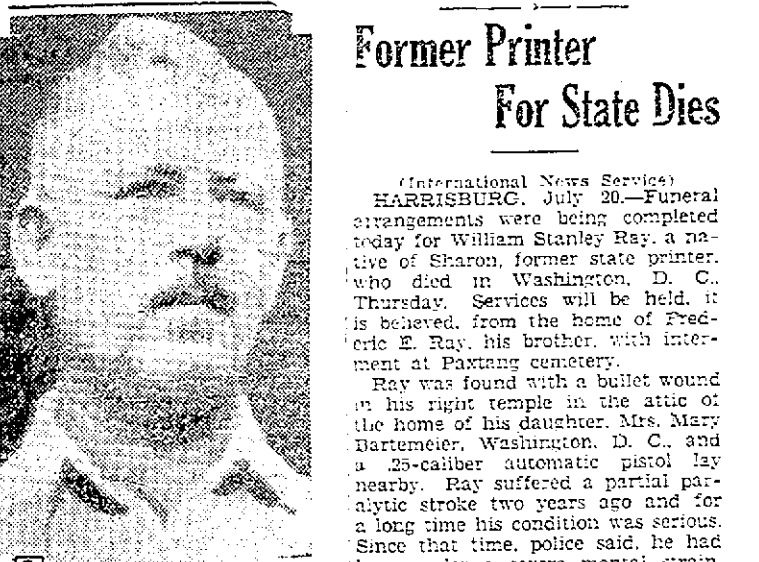

Another bird called the dove fails to reach its goal because of an unwelcome stowaway called greed.

For depreciation on his car, which cost him an average of $825 and which last approximately seven years, $125 for fuel and lubricants, $101 for repair work, $82 and for accessories, $21. The increase in expenditure over 1927 does not necessarily mean increased operation costs, said J. Borton Weeks, president of the association, but may be explained primarily by better highways, which lure the motorist away on long trips.

Based on an average mileage of 11,000 miles a year, the four-cylinder car costs 6.43 cents per mile and the six-cylinder car 8.40. The figures are compiled from data collected on 200 typical automobiles in all parts of the country.

The four-cylinder car averaged 17.33 miles to the gallon of gas and the six-cylinder 13.19 miles, the report said.

Officers say his defense will be the "unwritten law."

Former Printer For State Dies

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 20.—Funeral arrangements were being completed today for William Stanley Ray, a native of Sharon, former state printer, who died in Washington, D. C., Thursday. Services will be held, it is believed, from the home of Frederick E. Ray, his brother, with interment at Paxson cemetery.

Ray was found with a bullet wound in his right temple in the attic of the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Hartemeier, Washington, D. C., and a .25-caliber automatic pistol lay nearby. Ray suffered a partial paralytic stroke two years ago and for a long time his condition was serious. Since that time, police said, he had been under a severe mental strain.

The former state printer died in the Emergency hospital at Washington, two hours after being admitted. Despite the heroic efforts of physicians to save his life.

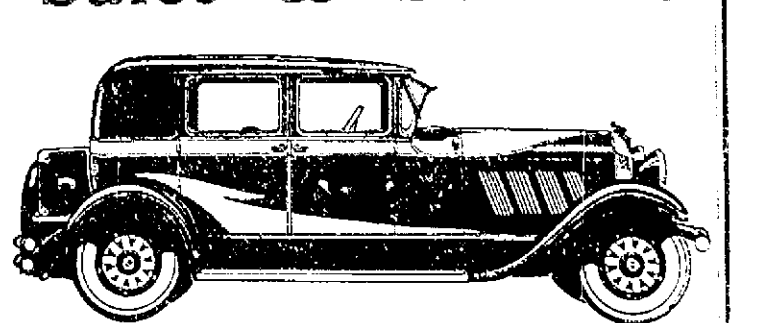

Ray was state printer for 12 years, coming to Harrisburg in 1884 from Sharon, his birthplace.

Grande And Carpentero Clash Here Monday

Knockout May End Main Tilt

Sammy Lupica And Sammy Harris Ready For Semi-Final Bout

THREE OTHER GOOD BATTLES ARRANGED

By ED FRITZ

Prizeo Grande and Luis Carpentero, rival Filipino flyweights are physically dolled up for their 10 round Evening's Event in Jolly bowl Monday night and fans who have followed the pugilistic accomplishments of the fisty gladiators believe a knockout will end the contest before the tenth round is over.

Carpentero, through his manager, Ad Thatcher, the millionaire promoter of the Dempsey-Willard fight has expressed confidence in his ability to "take" Grande while the boy who gave Mickey Wolfart a good fight at the bowl has sent word to friends here to the effect that he will be in and try for a "kay" as soon as the bell rings.

Grande is a disciple of hooks while Carpentero favors straight rights. Both are cunning, game and possess the durable stamina characteristic of their race. Carpentero met Willie Davies and Eric Peters here and Grande battled Davies and Wolgas. The four are in the front rank of their division and fans should see a good fight.

Thatcher telegraphed today that Carpentero, accompanied by Charlie George, well known trainer would arrive early Sunday morning. Ben Irving, the grey-eyed sphinx who has fought more about tutoring boxers than many of us will ever learn will be in the ring with his brown baby a few hours later.

They will go to the Leslie house and during the afternoon will participate in light workouts at the Dime gymnasium. Neither will fight each other in training as there are athletics even in the game of fisticuffs. Following the workout they will rest until Monday morning when they will take a several miles walk.

At three o'clock they will go to Jolly bowl and weigh in before the alert eyes of Deputy Commissioner Mike Kane who happens to be the burgess of Aliquippa and a former World's war captain, State Policeman and in fact an all around service man. They will feast later on a steak to boost their 114 pounds.

The fight between Grande and Carpentero will be one of the high spots in the first time in this vicinity two Filipinos have met as opponents and several motion picture machines will grind away and take pictures of the battle which may prove to be one teamed with sensations.

Sammy Lupica, Toledo, and Sammy Harris, Akron, junior lightweights will step and punch in the six-round semi-final. They have "it" and fans will realize it before the bell is over.

Taggart To Box Here
Knockout Huske, the rugged middleweight of Akron will take on Frank Munroe who recently fought Walter Pickard. Munroe only weighs 160 at present and will be a tough bar for Huske.

Chuck Taggart of Butler will meet Warren Favre, the boy companion of the light-heavyweight division here. Taggart has stopped Elmo Clark and Maxie Brown. They will go four rounds.

Johnny Lang of Ellwood City and Billy Murphy of New Castle will open the Evening's Event at the Palace of PUNCH in a bout listed for four rounds.

The bouts will start at 9 p. m. fast time. The referee and judges will not be announced until the bout arrives. Owing to the rivalry in the main bout a strange referee may be sent here.

Boro A. C. Tops Energy Team 6-4

The Boro A. C. team played a fine brand of baseball Friday night to down the Energy team at the Energy field by a score of 6 to 4. C. Duncan on the hill for the Boro team pitched a high class game, holding Energy to five hits and fanning eight men. Energy used St. Johns and Houk on the rubber.

They say this Victor Campolo, giant pugilist from the Argentine, is bigger in every way than Jess Willard was when he met Top Fitzsimmons for the world's heavyweight championship. Willie Stirling has fought about 200 times and he's still a million miles from a title bout. Jim Jeffries, besides being a heavy champ himself, fought more current and ex-heavy kings than any other man. He took the title from Fitzsimmons, knocked out Jim Corbett, then an "ex," and was himself defeated by Jack Johnson, who at that time, was already heavyweight champ. Schmeling-Sharkey May Not Fight In Metropolis Arena

New York State Boxing Board May Force Bout To Be Held Elsewhere

Schmeling Still Up In Air Over Managerial Issue; Hopes To Fight Sharkey

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service
NEW YORK, July 20.—Politics, as represented by the state athletic commission, and Wall Street, with its investment in the multi-million dollar corporation at Madison Square Garden, were embroiled today in what promised to be the bitterest war the sport of boxing has known, a war, they say, that only can end with one or the other in absolute and lasting command.

The nominal cause is the Garden Corporation's refusal that it will take the Sharkey-Schmeling fight to another city, Chicago, Detroit or elsewhere, in defiance of the commission's official pleasure, but actually it represents the first definite outbreak in a long-smoldering feud between the powers of boxing, dating back to the Rickard regime. Like the Archduke and Duchess of Sarajevo, the two fighters now are mere pawns in the game.

Farley Belinger, chairman of the commission, refused to comment on the Garden's official declaration for an out-of-town site for the fight but his promise of drastic action at next Tuesday's meeting was made in a way that indicated anything up to and including an earthquake. If the Garden can be said to represent the sentiment of the commission, then the commission undoubtedly is irked to no end.

On the other side, there are innuendoes and even open charges that the commission has exceeded its every authority because it is alleged to feel that there is one manager in town who never gets the break that is coming to him. The manager in question is Jimmy Johnston, who has the American rights on Phil Scott, named as the party of the second part in a fight which Schmeling won't fight on August 7. The match was made without Schmeling's consent; therefore, he will have no part of it all day long. The commission, meantime, had declared itself for Arthur Bulow as Schmeling's manager and could do no less than stand by its prior decision and recognize the contract to which Bulow was a party.

The Garden, however, sees the business only as official paternalism and some of the more sanguine souls in the organization are determined upon what they call "a war for the right," even if this means a turnover of the commission's personnel, either in part or in toto.

This naturally brings up the question of whether or not they are over-matching themselves. They have the money and the power that usually goes with it. But the commission has the vested authority of New York State behind it or, at least, that is the presumption. Perhaps the Garden isn't going into this thing blindfolded. Wall Street has a way of knowing things or at least of learning what it wishes to know. Having been airily threatened with the suspension and even the revocation of its license, this is liable to be a time when a certain amount of strictly reliable information will have its use.

Removed from the management of the St. Louis Cardinals after the New York Yankees made a sweep of the last world's series, Bill McKechnie now finds himself in a fire position for a return engagement in the big show next year. As manager of the Rochester club, Bill is doing a great job. His team is high and dry in first place with a very comfortable lead over the second placers, and the International league pennant for Rochester seems certain.

On the other hand, Billy Southworth, with whom McKechnie traded managerial posts this spring, is having his share of trouble. The Cardinals have lost quite a bit of ground under his leadership, though some of it must be blamed on illness and slump of pitchers. McKechnie showed rare ability in

Denny St. Clair Captures Crown

Kiski Prep School Golfer Again Wins West Penn Junior Amateur Golf Crown

By FRANCIS L. ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—There are always people who are willing to cry loud and emphatic prophecies of the downfall of a champion, but they were prophetic without honor today—those who predicted that the slim scion of Kiski prep school would lose his West Penn junior golf crown and retire a has-been. Denny St. Clair might have lost—had he been somebody else—but the fact of the matter is he beat Bill Adcock, of Beaver Valley, 4 and 2 with as sweet work on the greens as has ever been witnessed here in a junior tournament.

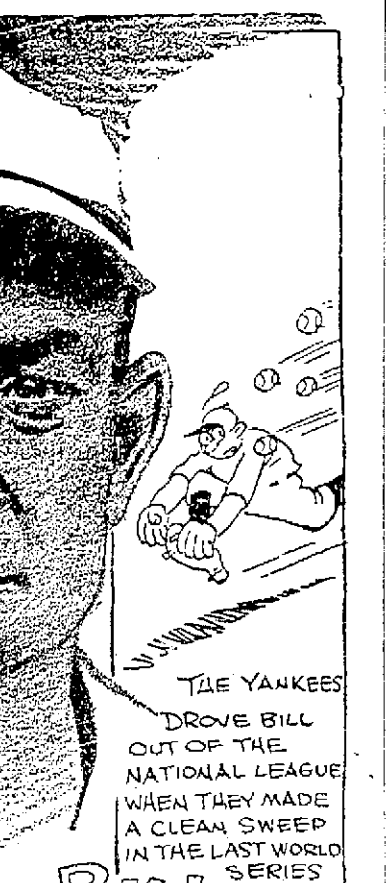

Next year Denny will not be listed in the entrants, for he will have passed the 18-year age limit which marks his passage from the ranks of the juniors to the ranks of the senior amateurs.

It was by consistent and superlative use of his irons that the Kiski boy once more nailed up a West Penn championship. Several times Adcock rolled onto the greens a stroke or so ahead and Denny cut him off at the shot strings with a putter. This is the way St. Clair kept his crown from slipping.

Walker will train at Harvey's Lake near Wilkes-Barre for his approaching scrap with Lomski, who is expected to establish camp at Ridley Park. Walker will start training about August 4.

Bill McKechnie May Be Back Again

Removed from the management of the St. Louis Cardinals after the New York Yankees made a sweep of the last world's series, Bill McKechnie now finds himself in a fire position for a return engagement in the big show next year. As manager of the Rochester club, Bill is doing a great job. His team is high and dry in first place with a very comfortable lead over the second placers, and the International league pennant for Rochester seems certain.

On the other hand, Billy Southworth, with whom McKechnie traded managerial posts this spring, is having his share of trouble. The Cardinals have lost quite a bit of ground under his leadership, though some of it must be blamed on illness and slump of pitchers. McKechnie showed rare ability in building up his team this year, which may mean his return to the big leagues, possibly with the team that gave him the air after he had won a pennant last year.

That Southworth will get what the boys at the corner call the hook is almost certain. Managers only last a season with the Cards, whether or not they win pennants. And Billy hasn't gotten anywhere near a pennant with the Cards. In fact, the club seems to be getting farther and farther away from a flag these days. That Will McKechnie would like another crack at the big time goes without saying. But it is doubtful that the Cards will have him again as manager, at least not in the near future. The Cardinal ownership likes new managerial blood in preference to old, so if Mac does get back in the big leagues it probably will be with some other club, perhaps the White Sox.

Kearns Believes Walker Should Be Handed New Title

Loughran's Vacated Title Belongs To Mickey Walker, Says Jack Kearns

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—If Tommy Loughran really is sincere about giving up his light-heavyweight title then it belongs to Mickey Walker according to the reasoning of the Suave Jack Kearns, the middleweight champion's manager.

Walker immediately will defend it against Leo Lomski in their scheduled bout here on August 19, Kearns said. He added that Walker won the referee's vote in his bout with Loughran in Chicago and in addition many of the fans thought he defeated the light-heavyweight champion. At least he did give Loughran a far more interesting battle than James J. Braddock who was looked upon as the leading challenger.

Kearns even goes further declaring Loughran should give his title up to the Pennsylvania State Athletic commission inasmuch as he is a Philadelphian. Then the commission should declare the Lomski-Walker bout a championship match for the vacated title and of course Walker would win asserts Mr. Kearns.

Kearns threw a dinner for the local sports writers last night and during the banquet took time out to voice his expressions regarding the light-heavyweight title.

Walker will train at Harvey's Lake near Wilkes-Barre for his approaching scrap with Lomski, who is expected to establish camp at Ridley Park. Walker will start training about August 4.

Tommy Loughran After New Title

Loughran Will Relinquish Light-Heavy Crown; Cannot Make Weight Any Longer

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 20.—"I've had enough. The doctors have warned me that if I make 175 pounds again, my kidneys will collapse from the drying out process. That's enough for me. I'm a heavyweight from now on."

Tommy Loughran, who successfully defended his title against James J. Braddock Thursday night, thus renounced his right to the light-heavyweight championship today. He said he would go before the New York boxing commission in a week or so, formally relinquish his title and request recognition as one of the leading heavyweight contenders.

"I don't know but what I'll ask the commission to recognize me as the defending champion," he added. "A move like that ought to get us somewhere, for I'll fight anybody anywhere, while most of the contenders won't."

Babe Ruth Pulls Muscle In Leg Is Again Out Of Game

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., July 20.—Babe Ruth, famous home run slugger, who pulled a muscle in his leg during a game at Detroit last Wednesday, will be out of the New York lineup for the remainder of the Yankee-Indian series, and perhaps indefinitely longer, Miller Huggins, Yankee pilot, revealed today.

The Babe was forced to retire from yesterday's game between the Yanks and Indians when for the second time this week, he pulled his left leg muscle, causing him to limp perceptibly.

Although Huggins expressed concern over the Babe's condition, he refused to predict that his ace home run hitter was at the end of his rope as far as his playing career was concerned.

Seeking An Opponent.
Before the fight Jones was signed to a contract and when Cleveland promoters tried to sign him they found they had been beaten to the bout by the Jolly bowl.

F. H. Fowles, manager of the Philadelphia, told the Cleveland promoters that he had signed for the New Castle engagement and under no consideration would he violate his agreement.

As soon as the bout ended last night telegrams were dispatched to light-heavyweights in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago offering them a chance to meet Jones at the bowl.

Joe Sekyra pleaded another engagement. Al Friedman had to refuse owing to a fight July 24 at Chicago. Tuffy Griffiths is signed for a bout but a prominent opponent will be secured for Jones.

Phalanx Team Defeats News

The News boys outhit the winners thirteen to ten, but ragged play helped defeat the Printers. Conway, Sewell, Landolph were the best batters in the Printers lineup, this pair snatching several hard hit liners. Ingram, Cutler, Bruce and Alford played the best for the Phalanx.

Bill Terry

By QUIN HALL
Four years is a long spell to squat on a bench in a dugout of a big league baseball park waiting for a chance to show one's wares, but that is exactly what "Memphis Bill" Terry did before he came to be well known by the New York Giant fans.

And Bill isn't sorry now that he had the patience to be a good squatter. John McGraw, who manages the Giants, probably is glad that "Memphis Bill" didn't get discouraged and scam.

"I dunno how I'll get along, but I can hit," Bill is reported to have made this remark when George "High-pockets" Kelly was traded by the Giants to Cincinnati for Roush.

Terry had been playing second fiddle to Kelly and that trade gave him his opportunity to make good as a first string player. The way he took over the assignment was impressive. He finished his first season (1927) as a regular batting with the first 10 men in the National League for an average of .324.

Last year he was again up among the leaders with .325. Again this year he is socking the onion all over the garden.

It is probably just as well that Bill started in the game while he was still young. He was signed by Atlanta as a pitcher when he was a 17-year-old stripling in a prep school. He was farmed out for two seasons. During this spell he discovered that his pitching wasn't anything to cheer about, so he tried his hand at first basing. He always knew that he could hit.

During the war, Terry worked for an oil company and afterwards was offered a contract with the Little Rock club. He didn't want to play there and went home. McGraw journeyed to Memphis and offered him a chance despite the fact that he had never seen him play a game.

Terry had a good job and hated to give it up, but the lure of the big leagues was too much for him. In 1922 he played at Toledo, McGraw's American Association farm. The last three months of the season he managed the team. Then he was called in by McGraw and started his long list.

Terry is serious about whatever he is connected with and he started to wait for an opportunity in a serious manner. There must have been times when he felt like weakening but he didn't. He struck to the bench.

And look at him now.

Congregationals Top Cen. Presbyterians

The First Congregationals defeated the Central Presbyterians 4 to 1, in a New Castle Church League game, played at the Clifton Flats field on Friday night.

Simmons on the knoll for the winners hurled a fine brand of baseball, limiting the slugging Presbyterians to four hits and fanning nine batters. Seargent on the hill for the losers was in rare form also, and let the Congregationals down with four hits, but ragged support in the form of five errors proved costly.

The Congregationals won the game.

Against a California background Norma Shearer, screen player, poses in a jacket costume of lavender basket weave material showing an angora finish. The jacket is collarless and shows patch pockets and white pearl buttons. The plain, wraparound skirt is belted and finished with a pearl buckle. The sleeveless tuck-in blouse shows a stock collar.

Earnshaw Hurls Five-Hit Game

Athletic Pitcher Joins Ranks Of Stardom By Beating Detroit Team

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service, Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 20.—Pitcher Gec Earnshaw's rise to stardom is one of the main reasons why the Athletics with a nine-game lead over the Yankees have a strange hold on the American league pennant today.

The big right-hander this season already has won 13 games, a record surpassed by any other hurler in the league except Lefty Grove, his teammate and also is second only to Grove in the streakout totals.

Yesterday he held the Detroit club to five hits, four of which were made by Marty McMarus. The Macks combed Owen Carroll for nine blows and won 4 to 2.

Yankers Divide.
After subduing Cleveland 7 to 3 with Tom Zachary on the mound, the Yanks were beaten by the youthful Ferrell in the nightcap 11 to 3 and lost half a game in the race.

In the opener Gehrig hit his 23rd homer taking the lead in the American league home run derby and becoming one up on Babe Ruth whose injured left leg forced him to retire to the first inning.

The 2 to 1 victory of the White Sox over the Red Sox was a comedy of errors, all three runs resulting from misplays. Thomas and Russell pitched.

Walter Stewart helped win his own game by hitting a double with the bases full as the Browns trounced the Senators 7 to 3.

Rain washed out all four national league games. The Pirates and the Giants play a double-header today and the Cubs and Robins also are booked for two games.

Central Christians Trample Baptists

The Central Christians defeated the First Baptists 13 to 1 in a New Castle church league game last night at Lehigh field. The Baptists were held to two hits by Davies, who was in rare form.

The Christians won the game in the first two innings by scoring ten runs. Smith and McIntosh failed to stem the tide of baseballs. Phelps featured with a home run drive. The Christians had four errors were they were not costly.

New Currency Reminds Chinese Of Paper Money Used In The Orient Long Before Dawn Of Christianity

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Central Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—It is a cold day, even in mid-summer, when a Chinese takes note of the convenience of modern civilization without claiming that the Middle Kingdom was well acquainted with it when the Ming dynasty was still in short pants. An attaché of the Nanking legation in Washington happened along, in the bank lobby, as I was examining my first sample of Uncle Sam's latest currency—the new small-sized kind, only two-thirds the area of the old bills.

"We had paper money in my country," he remarked patronizingly, "long before the dawn of the Christian era."

Piqued, I inquired at the federal reserve board's headquarters in the Treasury building whether paper currency really was so ancient.

The board's statistical division frankly was uncertain just when it did originate, but ventured the guess that it couldn't have antedated the printing press, at any rate.

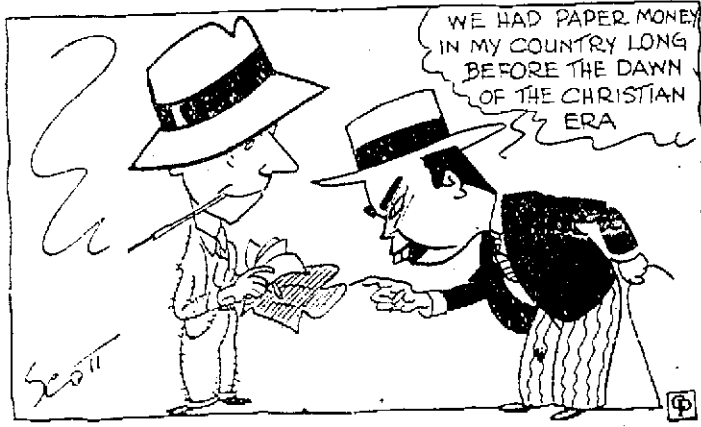

Promptly we called up my oriental friend to suggest this poser to him.

"Huh!" he jeered back. "I thought everybody knew that the Chinese already were good printers centuries before Gutenberg was born."

The federal reserve folk do agree that bills of exchange circulated throughout the Roman empire in B. C. days.

The Venetian merchants handled lots of them in the middle ages. Marco Polo, who predated Gutenberg by a couple of generations, mentions carrying what would be called "traveler's checks" now—though the federal reserve people doubt if he was able to cash them at banks as distant from Venice as the financial centers of Far Cathay.

The federal reserve's experts surmise that something like really modern paper issues must have followed pretty speedily after the printing press' appearance in Europe; they cannot imagine the kings of those days as being slow to see the system's advantages to them, as a means of supplementing their gold and silver hoards whenever they began to run short.

Moreover, the government's treasury authorities say, paper could be made a reasonably satisfactory circulating medium even without bullion reserves to back it up.

In fact, economists like Prof. Irving Fisher insists that it would be better than gold.

Professor Fisher's plan—which Henry Ford heartily indorses, by the way—is to make paper money redeemable in stored-up commodities.

The federal reserve and treasury people do not dismiss this idea as altogether visionary. They prefer a gold basis, but they admit that the other scheme might work pretty well.

What orthodox financiers like about gold, they explain, is that it has an intrinsic value—in the arts and, for instance, filling teeth—which does not fluctuate so rapidly or so far as values of any other sort of national wealth, such as crops, real estate or warehousesful of manufactured goods.

Hence, it has stability, as a weight on the scales.

The financial folk refuse seriously to consider the theory that science may, one day, knock the value out of the precious metals.

However, scientists speak of it as possible.

Indeed, the French savant, Joliot-Curie, is asking now for a test of a process by which he declares he has produced synthetic gold, exactly the same as nature's.

Similar claims have been made before.

None ever has been satisfactorily verified, but science declines to go on record as denying that it can be done—the right jolt on the right atom is recognized as liable to turn the trick any time.

The financiers themselves confess that cheap gold would be no good as a money—and synthetic gold would imply other synthetic metals.

Then what?

Treasury echo answers: The fixing of an index value on commodities generally.

A wheat index, for example, would hardly do: wheat prices vary too widely with good and bad years. Just so with other single commodities, but some hundreds of them could be jumbled together—wheat, beefsteak, dairy products, gent's furnishings, town lots, railroad stocks, automobiles—and an index value placed on the whole smear.

Paper would be issued on that basis.

Treasury officials will scarcely discuss such a hypothesis—they are so afraid they will be overheard and laughed at—or shut up in a padded cell. But it would work—they admit that.

GARDNER

PICNIC EVENT.

Last Wednesday the members of the Woman's Mission Circle of the Providence Baptist church above North Sewickley came to Gardner for a picnic. Heavily laden baskets carried substantial and dainties. The ladies set up quilting frames under a spreading maple tree and a number worked diligently on a lovely red and white quilt. At noon a royal feast was served under the shade of the old apple tree. Before leaving for home there was a sale of white elephants. This added several dollars to the treasury and was lots of fun. Ice cream and cake were served again, good-hues were spoken and a perfect day was ended.

Those present were Mrs. J. R. Routledge, Mrs. Pierce Hazen, president of the circle, Mrs. Ezra Hazen, Mrs. S. G. Hazen, Mrs. Mabel Steffler and

The TOWN DOCTOR

(The Doctor of Towns)

Says:

"THANK YOUS" ARE A MEANS OF MUCH BUSINESS.

There is a cigar store I know where they will give you back the amount of your purchase if the clerk fails to say, "Thank you."

There was a string of drug stores in Chicago that appeared to make it a habit of not saying, "Thank you"—they were forced to sell out at a loss.

There is nothing that gratifies on my nerves quite as much as to pay a check, a bill, or present legal tender in payment of purchase, and have the recipient of my money fail to express any appreciation for the patronage extended. And there are millions of others just like me.

One of the most successful mercantile businesses in the country has built its business on the motto, "It is only natural to trade where you are served best." Some cash register company might do good if they put a "Thank You" on their register, like cuckoos on clocks.

Why shouldn't the customer be thanked? If one man gave another a dollar and the receiver didn't even grunt to show appreciation, you'd call him an ungrateful cuss and a poor specimen of humanity; yet, many a sale at a profit equivalent to much more, is accepted with the air of "Well, it's coming to me." That is mighty poor business, or else inexcusable ignorance.

The cheery "Thank you," "Call again," or some other such card on the inside of the door, or over the cash register, shows the right spirit and helps, but isn't enough. The American public are fickle buyers, and for that reason "business goes where it is invited, and stays and comes back to the place where it is well treated and served best." There is many a business house, many a community, failing to make an expression of appreciation for patronage extended, that is thereby driving customers to its competitor, for it isn't always what is done, but what is left undone that counts.

"Thank You's" never drove business from any store or community, but lack of them has cost many thousands upon thousands of dollars.
